- Meebook Meta is a social media and work showcasing app that combines social networking with professional networking. Users can create personalized profiles, connect with others, and even hire individuals for job opportunities.
- I worked as a React Developer Intern on the front-end development of the admin page for the Meebook Meta app. I created the entire user interface and web page independently using React and integrated it with the main app's API.
- I also assisted in improving the main page of the Meebook Meta app by implementing data fetching logic and developing a filtering feature. The filtering feature allows users to view people of the same category and enhances the user experience by providing filtered results based on user preferences.
